

CHILD LANGUAGE Research Study

Kids Can zoom In and Earn Cash Just for Playing Word Games as Part of Our Space-Themed Research Study

Ready to blast off? First, you'll complete some background information on your little astronaut and we'll send you a child-sized headset. Then your child will have up to three Zoom visits where they will play fun, space-themed word games and complete standardized assessments. When the study is over, we'll send you the results of your child's assessments. Plus, you will receive $25 for each visit.

Who can participate?

Children between 5 and 10 years of age who:

- Primarily speak English
- Don't have autism
- Don't have an intellectual disability
- Don't have hearing loss

Why is this study important?

It will help us understand which words are difficult for children to learn and why. Then we can develop extra educational supports so that all children have the vocabulary they need to succeed in school.

TO LEARN MORE ABOUT THIS STUDY, CONTACT:

Ron Pomper at The Word Learning Lab
(531) 355-5695
ronald.pomper@boystown.org

Learn More & Sign Up Today!

